

A detailed line drawing of a bathroom vanity. The vanity features a rectangular countertop with a central oval sink and three faucet holes. Below the countertop is a cabinet with a central door featuring a decorative, arched panel. On either side of the central door are two drawers each, for a total of four drawers. The vanity is supported by four legs, with the front legs having a decorative, fluted design. Dimension lines are shown on the left and bottom, indicating the height, depth, and width of the unit.
